WHEEL TRUST ASSIGNS

COMMERCIAL COMPANY, AS IT WAS

The Assets Are Nominally About-$150,000 and Liabilities $95,000-Companies in the Combine.

The wheel trust, whose incorporated title has been the Commercial Wheel Company, breathed its last yesterday afternoon, when it went into the arms of the Indiana Trust Company, assignee. The company has had its headquarters in this city, but no local plant has been connected with it. The offices were in the Indiana Trust Company

The combine was organized in 1894 by representatives of the Flickinger Wheel Company, of Galion, O.; Zwick, Greenwald & Co., Dayton, O.; Wapakoneta Wheel Company, Wapakoneta, O.; Royer Wheel Company, Cincinnati, O.; Johnson Wheel Company, Freeport, Ill.; Portsmouth Wheel Company, Washington Court House, O.; National Wheel Company, Jackson, Mich.; Woolsey Wheel Company, Sandusky, O.; Standard Wheel Company, Terre Haute, Ind.; Muncie Wheel Company, Muncie, Ind., and the Owensboro Wheel Company, Owensboro, Ky. However, there have been numerous falures of buggy companies, so that it will be impossible to realze upon all the assets. Messrs, Morris, Newberger & Curtis, the legal representatives of the combine, decline to estimate what the loss to individual members will be, but assert that in no way will it affect the trade. The assignment was a voluntary one by the directors, the affairs of the trust having been adjudicated to a point where the services of an assignee could be used to advantage. The concerns in the trust are now selling direct to dealers.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

Will Baffle the Fee Grabbers. At a meeting of Mayor Taggart, City Attorney Curtis, Controller Johnson and Mr. Downing, of the Board of Works, it was decided to ask the Legislature to amend the Barrett law so as to make it the duty of the treasurer to make all collections of Barrett law assessments. At present it is merely his duty to receive the money when tendered and the enforcement of payment is left in the hands of the controller. This often caused big bilis for attorneys' fees. It is proposed to take this out of the hands of the contractor or bondholder and make it the duty of the treasurer to make the conections. There will be a penalty of 10 per cent for a delinquency of a certain longer delinquency.

Gonsolus Reinstated.

There being a Republican vacancy on the police force, the Board of Safety yesterday reinstated Frederick W. Gonsolus. John F. Johnson was appointed to fill a Democratic Gonsolus is the man who so strangely disappeared from home a short time ago, after it had been reported that he had another wife living in Ohio. The Controller's Annual Report. Yesterday Controller Johnson was preparing his annual report, hoping to get it ready to be submitted to the Council tomorrow night. He had not reached a point where he could give out any figures. In regard to the report that he would recommend the appropriation of $400,000 for parks he said he had reached no conclusion on that question, and had not said he would or would not recommend anything.

A Robins' Roost.

There is a place in Brown county known as the "ten lost eighty," which is a wilderness uninhabitated and only traveled over by hunters; it is a great thicket of small brush and grapevines. It is here the robins have chosen a roosting place. They may be seen early in the morning starting in all directions in search of food. They feed on beechnuts and ragweed seed, which are in abundance in that section. They sometimes feed twenty miles from their roost. but go back each night. It is a beautiful sight to see them return. They come in a vast flock, which grows larger the nearer the roost it gets, until the heavens appear to be one dark cloud of flying objects. The people of the surrounding country gather there when the nights are dark, with lanterns and clubs and knock off what they want to eat. The birds make a very tempting dish, as they are somewhat similar to wild pigeon, only they have a much larger breast. Their flesh is tender and

On indictments returned by the grand jury during November and December there have been sixty-eight saloon keepers and one druggist arrested and required to give bond. Less than ten of the cases have been disposed of, and these were on pleas of | ! !! guilty. There are nearly thirty more indictments on which no arrests have been | i & made, making a total of nearly one hundred indictments for violations of the liquor laws returned by the grand jury in those

An examination of the indictments shows that a large number of the indictments were returned on the evidence of four men-Richard Lake, Bert Horton, William | 140 Ansley and Max Lucas. In speaking of the indictments which the grand jury is reported to have returned against a large number of saloon keepers, Superintendent Colbert said yesterday: "I have no knowledge of the persons who are furnishing this information to the grand jury. Of course, it is not the members of the police force. Policemen do rot go to the grand jury with information con-cerning the violation of the liquor laws. It vicinity led the officers to believe that is not the method employed. Policemen either make arrests on the spot or secure warrants and have the offenders brought before the Police Court. I mention this because of Mr. Ritter's claim that the names of no policemen appear on indictments against this class of offenders. Of course they do not, but the fact is shown by the records of the Police Court that the police arrested and convicted 142 violators of the liquor laws during the last fiscal year."

Board of Safety Will Not Hear Any of His Evidence. When the Board of Safety assembled yesterday morning the first topic of discussion was the letter from Captain Ritter. It was length of time, and a greater penalty for | finally decided that the clerk of the board should be instructed to inform reporters that according to the letter of Captain Ritter his knowledge was second-handed, and that as he seemed to know nothing from his personal observation the board would not issue a summons for him to appear before it again. The clerk was also instructed to say to the reporters that any citizen who had any "real facts" in regard to the violation of the wineroom and liquor laws would be giadly welcomed by the board. Captain Eli F. Ritter smiled when told of the action of the Board of Public Safety in refusing to recall him to hear his charges against the police force. Oh, of course, the reason they give is much pride in their work as any of the only an excuse," said he. "They don't want | big men on the track and are just as to hear what I have to say. "What will you do about it?"

There is another story going the rounds of the courthouse in regard to the whys and wherefores of the response made by Clerk Herrick when he was asked last Wednesday morning by the president of the board if he had heard from Captain Ritter. At that time the board had assembled and Mr. | the best of them. The small track will Maguire turned to Herrick and said: "Have you heard anything from the and might have meant any one of dozens of men in town, and did not especially refer to Mr. Ritter, when it is considered that he is generally known as Captain Ritter. The story is that the answer made by Herrick that the colonel had sent word that he could not be present was simply a part of a prearranged plan, and that Mr. Maguire knew at the time he asked the question all about the message sent by Mr. Ritter, and had instructed the clerk of the board to make just that answer, so the board would have a fairly good excuse for dismissing the case. This story is heard on all sides at the courthouse, but just where it originated is not known. Herrick sald when asked about It that he did not care to be interviewed.

There were at least fifteen known gamblers loafing in the barroom of the saoon when the officers appeared, and from their attitude they were awaiting their coming. On the River-avenue bridge, just across the street from Rahke's place, stood another large delegation of gamblers watching the results of the visit, ready to hasten across the bridge to the city side of the river, outside of the jurisdiction of the suburban officers in case there was any danger of their arrest. The six days' contest among women bicycle riders will open in Tomlinson Hali Monday evening. The track was completed Friday evening, and all day Saturday the girls were exercising for the race. The rack is pronounced fairly fast for an eighteen-lap affair. To beat the eighteen-lap the eighth-year pupils. of at least eighteen miles an hour. When the short stretches and sharp turns are taken into consideration this seems almost impossible, but yesterday afternoon Anderson and Farnsworth had a sprint in which they rode at a twenty-mile-an-hour elip. There was some difficulty in holding the south turn, as the track is just a little lumpy at that point. It will be gone over to-day and one or two short sections re-

There was a good crowd in the hall yesterday afternoon watching the riders work out. The girls who race here next week are all professional riders. They have as jealous of their records. The local riders who were out yesterday afternoon could not begin to keep up with the women. Of the five girts who will race here Tillie Anderson is considered the fastest. Since she entered the professional class she has never been beaten in a six days' race. Her ing. Jan. 27, to elect trustees for the ensuccesses at times have been very close, but her front wheel has always showed in front, once by only three inches. Dottie Farnsworth, who will probably prove Anevidence I have is authentic, although I derson's closest competitor, arrived from Cleveland in time to work out yesterday. Helen Baldwin, if in condition, would give the others a hard race, but yesterday she was not quite ready, and her trainer fears that she will not be able to stand the pace for the first two nights. If she can she will be in at the finish, as she has a reputation of being one of the gamiest riders that ever rode a diamond frame. Mate Christopher, the Minneapolis rider, is also in the class with the others. She may be a bit handicapped on an eighteen-lap track, but believes that before the race is many hours old she will be in form to ride with prove an ald to Mae Allen, the English rider. She is small and can ride as close to the turns as any girl in the country. When it comes to saving distance she will have an advantage over the others. The girls will be on the track again Monday afternoon, and there will be no admission The track which has been built in the hall is oval in shape, ranging in banking from three feet on the sides to six and a half feet on the turns. It is twelve feet wide on the sides and fourteen at the ends. This means that the girls in making the turns will ride at more than an angle of forty-five degrees. "Dad" Moulton, the veteran trainer, who is with the racing team, said yesterday that he believed on a small track the girls could beat any man in the country. He has trained Tom Cooper and Arthur Gardiner, two of the fastest men on the National Circuit. The girls will race two hours each night, beginning at 8 o'clock. Special prizes will be given the winner of each night's racing. This will serve to keep the riders going all week. A Local Life Insurance.
